Why Join Intersolar Summit Brasil Sul 2025 in Porto Alegre?

Photovoltaic solar energy is a fundamental pillar in Brazil's transition to a low-carbon economy. Agrivoltaics – the interface between PV technology and agriculture – is one of the innovations highlighting the expansive potential of the solar industry. Brazil's southern state of Rio Grande do Sul, with its robust PV infrastructure and prominence as an agricultural producer, is at the epicenter of the energy revolution.

That is the flourishing context in which Solar Promotion International and Aranda Eventos proudly announce the second edition of Intersolar Summit Brasil Sul, to be held in Porto Alegre on October 28–29, 2025. Inspired by the success of Intersolar South America in São Paulo, the Summit promises to be a milestone for southern Brazil's solar industry.

The same team who produce Intersolar South America in São Paulo will offer:

- Conference: Focus on PV energy developments, debates on technology, markets, financing, and government policies
- Innovation Highlights: Distributed generation, energy storage and agrivoltaics
- Shared Expertise: Lectures and debates with specialists, promoting audience interaction
- Business Platform: More than 60 exhibitors in 4,000 sqm, presenting innovative products and services
- Professional Training: Workshops and masterclasses led by renowned professionals
- Broad Prospecting: Business opportunities in a rapidly expanding solar market
